

Press Release 25/01/2012

The Comedy Project

New season: New scripts: New writers

@ The Soho Theatre, 21 Dean Street, London, W1D 3NE

Monday 5th, 12th, 19th & 26th March at 8.00 pm

Tickets £10 (Soho Theatre Box Office: 020 7478 0100)

The talented writing / performing team The Comedy Project return to the Soho Theatre to present their 2012 season of new comedy writing; whether you're a punter or an industry insider, if you want to know which way comedy is going, this is for you.

The Comedy Project offers audiences the unique chance of seeing new work from well-established writers performed alongside material from the best in up-and-coming comedy talent.

Two pieces are presented each night with the content ranging from 'off-book' sitcom pilots to 'on-book' radio plays; from stand-up shows to filmed sketches.

For more information on each evening's line-up, see below; for up-to-date details on both the writers and cast, visit www.comedyproject.co.uk.

Monday 5th March Games Night by Roisin Rae Life's not one big game - it's lots of little ones. A comedy about competitive people. From the co-writer of Sketch-Com: 'exceptionally clever and entertaining' (Chortle)	Monday 19th March Concentric Orbits by Rosalind Adler 2019. The first manned mission to Mars. Veteran 'sweethearts of space', Jago and Bex, blast off into the unknown on a life-changing journey of discovery.
Trod en Bratt in Well Done You by Ruth Bratt & Lucy Trodd Character sketch from the disturbed and disturbing brains of Trodd en Bratt. Be tickled. Or troubled. But laugh. Please laugh. With us. Or at.	The Black Sheep: Telling Tales by Andrew Jones & Ciaran Murtagh Two master storytellers invite you to enjoy a selection of rib-tickling tales and hilarious parodies. 'Belly laughs and a contagious sense of fun' (The Times)
Monday 12th March The Hub by Tim Downie & Matthew Earley On a scale when one means 'never' and five means 'definitely', what are the chances you will ever have the life you wanted?	Monday 26th March Comedy Haemorrhage By Jane Lamacraft Sketches from the brain of Jane Lamacraft. (Smack the Pony / Armstrong & Miller / Never Mind the Buzzcocks / The Now Show)
Doggett & Ephgrave's Comedy Shorts by Glyn Doggett and David Ephgrave A grab-bag of sketches and stand-up from the up-and-coming comic duo. 'A keen eye for the absurd. Polished, natural comedians' (Camden Fringe Voyeur)	High Windows by Dale Shaw & Madeleine Brettingham An archetypal alpha-male is forced into early retirement after a health scare and has to be cared for by his unsympathetic daughter.

For more details or pictures contact Glyn Doggett and David Ephgrave on email:
info@comedyproject.co.uk